Fritz Hermann – Singer & Songwriter

During the last decades, Fritz was musically involved in different ways, for instance, in folk and rock groups, as a music teacher, as a member of a dance band, and as an author of children's musicals. Eventually, his songwriting increased.

At first, Fritz wrote songs in his native language: German. Encouraged by international musical friendships, he finally started writing songs in English, preferably with a message. There are now more than 60 original songs.

Also, Fritz still likes to sing traditional and contemporary songs. He intends to transmit a positive attitude and entertain the listener. Fritz also tries to find what connects people and maintains a singing tradition.

Fritz plays guitar, ukulele, or concertina as accompaniment. You may expect a varied singer-songwriter program with old and new songs and many opportunities to sing along.
